The Los Alamos National Laboratory will remain in Security Condition Two for Friday, Sept. 14, 2001. S-Division will notify all Laboratory employees of any change in security conditions.

As long as the Laboratory remains in Security Condition Two, you are to continue reporting any suspicious activities, packages or vehicles to the Emergency Operations Center at 7-6211. For actual emergencies, dial 911.

Security related questions and non-emergencies contact your Division OSSO or the Security Help Desk at 5-2002, e-mail security@lanl.gov.

Security Notes:

- For organizations located within Property Protected Areas, it is highly recommended that doors to these areas be secured, whenever possible, during the workday as well as weekends. This does not include those buildings that require frequent access by the public (i.e. Otowi Building, Study Center, Badge Office).
- Lock government vehicle doors when parked and unattended to assure prohibited items (explosives) are not introduced into the vehicle without the employee's knowledge.
- During these times of heightened security, you are reminded to always follow the directions of the PTLA Security Officers, be polite and patient.
- All official Laboratory mail should be processed through BUS-4 Mail Services. Employees in Mail Services are trained to look for suspicious packages and mail. Make sure when you provide outside organizations with your unclassified mailing address that you use the standard P. O. Box 1663 along with your mail stop.
- Timely training from S-8 EM&R is available:
  1. Bomb Threat Preparation and Response
this is a 3 hour course conducted at TA-49. There are live detonations demonstrations.
  2. Package and Letter Bomb Response
this is a 1 1/2 hour course that can be provided anywhere at the Lab. Call Mike Barnes (5-5875) or Brad Lounsbury (5-5162)
